National Cash Register Head, Foreseeing Prosperity, Backs Up His Opinion With His Money; Is Spending $200,000 This Month For Pub-

Dayton, O., Nov. 16.—In the conven-tion of salesmen of the National Cash Register Company, gathered here from all parts of this continent, reports were made indicating the general improvement of business everywhere. Out of the eight hundred salesmen prevent, all but one said that his territory was moving fast toward a bus

On the basis of these reports, John H. Patterson, president and general manager of the Cash Register company, predicted that the approaching era of prosperity would probably exceed anything this country has ever known.

As a preface to his remarks reviewed the business depression of the previous two years. This, he said, effected all lines-agriculture, ling, industry, commerce and " he continued "the boom is on. Agricultural interests are the first to feel it. The farmers have record-breaking crops, with a big demand. Various industries have picked up, one after another. Then the stores needed goods, and factory wheels began to move. Then commerce and transportation reflected the change Finally, it was manifest in the financial world. We have plenty of money and the best banking system the world today.

"We have three big federal organizations taking care of these various nterests: First, the Interstate commerce Commission; then came the Federal Trade Commission; and, finally, the Federal Reserve Board, with its chain of reserve banks. The value of these three boards or commissions to the country cannot be estimated.
"Through the aid of the reserve an era of prosperity such as this country has never seen before. "All this great prosperity cannot come in a day. It will take time. But conditions everywhere ore improving. The farmers are prosperous. The mills of Pittsburgh are busier than ever before. Railroad stocks are going up. It is only a question of a short time be-fore the wave of prosperity will be upon us.

"Now is the time for storekeepers to advertise, added Mr. Patterson. He is backing up his opinion with his money. His company is spending more than $200,000 this month for advertising. In addition, it has spent $50,000 to have the 800 members of its selling force attend its school at Day. ton for three days, where they were taught the new and up-to-date ideas for their business.

NEW LIGHT ON MULLEN'S INTERVIEW WITH ROOSEVELT Subsequent Misunderstanding

What Had Been Said New York, Nov. 16 .- New light or Charles S. Mellen's famous interview with President Roosevelt over the question as to whether the New York New Haven and Hartford Railroad company should sell its steamship lines to Charles W. Morse was switched on by the government today at the trisi of the eleven former directors of the road on the charge of criminal viola-tion of the Sherman law.

Misunderstanding with Roosevelt. The government introduced a letter written by Mellen to William Loeb, Jr., the president's secretary, by which it appeared there was a subsequent misunderstanding between the railroad president and Mr. Roosevelt over what

"According to Mellen's testimony, the president had told him that as would give the New Haven no immunity if it violated the law, but that he promisteamship lines. The government maintains that the but proceeded to acquire others to strengthen its alleged monopoly.

"Please do not forget," Mellen wro in the letter introduced to lay, promise you made me that the president should send for Herbert Knox Smith and read over carefully the memorandum he prepared of our interview of early last spring on the steamship matter.

Rates Upon Crude Products. "Unless my memory is faulty, I out lined to the president in that interview that if I did not trade with Mr. Morse it would be necessary for rie to go farther for the protection of the territory we serve and I have it strongly in my mind that I suggested there would be further acquisitions to extend our influence south to enable us to control the rates upon crude promanufacturing interests in our partic ular territory.

"I fear he has forgotten the full in terview. I am not at all surprised that it is so, but inasmuch as we have come to a better understanding than for a long time back, and as I am very for a long time back, and as I am very pleased at the result of my last in-terview with him, I am more than anxious that he shall disabuse his mind of the thought I fear he may have had that I have taken advantage of his good nature and kindness toward me to go further than I was justified in doing as the result of our inter-

Mellen Desired to Discuss Sherman

Law. The letter was dated Jan. 27, 1903, nearly a year after the interview re-ferred to and meantime the New Ha-ven had bought the Windsor line and obtained an interest in the Merchants and Miners. The occasion for sending the communication was a proposed interview with the president by a committee of railroad presidents which Mr. Mellen desired to arrange to discuss the Sherman law. "I have called a meeting of the rali-road presidents in New York tomor-row," Mellen wrote in the introductory part of the letter, "regarding the mat-ter I spoke to the president about, viz: that of having a conference with him by which the railroad interests can be come more tractable through a bet-ter understanding of his policy regard-

Most All Corporations Liable to Attack "There is hardly any railroad cor money to the holders of the secret formula. This is accepted by the "conpany" and the lad is soon able to show his father-in-law to-be, the sum of money doubled, and claim his daughter. One of the striking features on today's big feature bill is the Lubin film entitled "The Mirror," a product of the peerless ned studio recently creeted by the Lubin company. This features Ethel Clayton, Thusaton Hall, late star of "The Only Girl Co.," and Crane Wilbir a favorite film star in this city. This drama is one of the mountains and is thrilling and the president, he is not at all averse-on the contrary, is disposed to help to the extent he can.

"I am going to arrange for Mr. New man (then president of the New York Central) to be one of the commission of railroad presidents to see the pres-"I am going to arrange for Mr. New arranged quietly and with no publicity and certainly with every desire to avoid embarrassment to anyone.

"It is my firm conviction if a better understanding can be had with the president and of his policy, it will go a long way toward ameliorating conditions in financial circles and hringing about the support bringing about the support of the president in those quarters I do earn-estly seek and which I believe is absolutely necessary to the successfu outcome of his wishes regarding the oming political campaign Dispute Over Political Letter. One paragraph of the letter was not read by the government. Attorney aBits omitted it after the defense had abits omitted it after the defense had made a vigorous protest against the admission of the letter on the ground that it was "purely a political matter."

"This is injecting politics into the case," said Delancey Nicoli, "and if you're going to read it, we can inject all the politics you want. The first indiciment in this case was based on politics."

'It was not." interrupted Mr. Batts.

POETRY DEPARTURE.

One last slow walk along the village street.
One last long night upon a restless one last, poor struggle with a tousled A weary gasp, and lo my friend is

Ah, where is now the warm clasp of his hand?

And where the luster of his shining eye?

Beside the death-bed I who loved him stand And blindly wonder what it means to die. bove the distant hills the evening

Is like a beacon on a shoreless sea.
The path it faintly lights leads straight and far.
But where within that silent realm is he? Alone he went upon his mystic way.
Without a comrade sought the vast unknown;
He even cast aside his case of clay,
The spirit stripped for flight and went alone.

But did he venture forth in trembling fear? Ah, strangely no! It rather seems to He gladly left the life he once held dear,
To test the mettie of the Yet-to-be.

"SOMEWHERE IN FRANCE." Somewhere in France the fevered day is ending;
Belated wild birds in their homeward flight
Circle, and dip, the while, with sweet insistence,
They voice their soft complainings to the night.

Somewhere in France the warm green of her meadowa Glessus red and dank beneath the brooding stars;
But what to her are blossom time and harvest Whose fields are sown and garnered by red Mars?

Somewhere in France the sodden trenches cover Dreams of warm vineyards basking in the sun; Of little children calling through the twilight.
Of love and peace and home when day is done. Somewhere in France the sullen night is nearing.

Bringing no dreams to those who would forget.

But what are dreams to him who knows no waking.

For whom the sun shall no more rise and set?
